

CNEC Christian College
Report on the Use of Promotion of Reading Grant
2019-2020

Part 1 Evaluation of the effectiveness

1. Evaluation of the objectives

a. To cultivate reading habits of students

Arousing students' interest and motivation in reading are essential in cultivating their reading habits. Other than the DEAR period which only provides limited reading and sharing time, strategic reading activities have to be implemented in a parallel manner so as to sustain students' motivation and hence strengthen the reading culture of the school. However, due to COVID-19 and class suspension, most of the planned reading activities were cancelled. As a result, there is not much improvement in strengthening students' reading habits.

Different electronic platforms or tools such as E-Read Scheme, e-newspaper, e-magazines, etc. have been provided. However, only a whole school approach which involves a systematic incorporation of reading elements in subjects' curriculum can help fully derive the benefits from the use of electronic media.

b. To promote a culture of sharing of reading among teachers and students

Professional talks and workshops have been arranged to both teachers and students so as to enhance their reading interest and ability. Due to class suspension, these talks were video-taped and its effectiveness is obviously adversely affected when compared with face-to-face arrangement.

2. Evaluation of strategies:

As mentioned in (1), much more benefits can be derived from the use of electronic media in promoting reading if a whole school approach is adopted. It is believed that well-planned reading activities are much helpful in promoting reading as well as sharing in reading. Due to unpredictable epidemic which affects the implementation of face-to-face reading activities, more thoughts may be devoted to web-based reading activities as a viable alternative.
