

'Oh my God!' I sighed as I saw the students wasting energy and resources again.

I am Billy — a bird which had magical powers. I lived in CNEC Christian College. My home is on the top of the college (or I should say 'a net'). I don't know why I have magical powers, 'Is God or somebody giving me that?' I wondered.

Well, it's not the first time! Every day I realized that the students always love wasting energy and resources, especially water! They liked to have a water fight and always made the floor wet and slippery. I was really astonished and shocked that though they are secondary students, they are still very childish and naïve. They should know that people who are in the toilet may slip and hurt themselves easily.

Next, the students also had a terrible habit — wasting power. When the students left their classrooms, they always forgot to turn the lights off and ran away after school. At this moment, I really wanted them to learn a lesson. Therefore, I made a decision ...

That night, I flew to find my friend, Michael Soft (MS--I always call him like this) who lives in a tree that is next to the college. 'Hi', I waved to him and said, 'Hello!' he replied. I asked him whether he wanted to go with me to punish the students. He answered without hesitation, 'Absolutely! The students were too naughty!' Oh! I forget to say that MS also had magic powers.

The next morning, we started our journey. At 8:25a.m., when the students started to have their school lesson, MS and I used our magic powers to cut the electricity supply of the school. Without electricity, they couldn't turn on the lights and the air-conditioner. It was a hot summer. They kept sweating and groaning. Teachers couldn't use the computer. Plumbers wanted to repair it. Unfortunately, they couldn't find the problem or fix it.

At recess, the students went to the washroom and washed their faces and tried to cool down. However, when they were trying to turn on the water tap, something happened — there was no water! 'Oh, no! I must report this to the teacher', a student yelled anxiously.

Finally, MS and I stopped using the magic power. We were so drained and weary after a long day! The school's power and water supply were back. Because of the punishment, the students learnt that life would be very uncomfortable and inconvenient without natural resources. Since that day, they never waste the resources anymore. No one dare to waste it again.
