Embrace your dream, young people

Why young people need to pursue dreams

As one once said, ‘People without a dream is a piece of blank paper,’ I personally agree with that. In my opinion, everyone, especially young people should have a dream to pursue. It is a goal in our life to remind us not to give up. It is a train to keep us going in the never-ending tunnel. It is the light at the end of the tunnel which provides us with energy for the next coming day. Without it, we will all feel lost and couldn’t reach the end. No matter whether you think life is a long or short journey, pursue your aspiration. If you don’t have one, find one. It will simply motivate you to become a better person, enlighten your life, and energize you to embark on your life of explorations and adventures.

What prevents them from daring to dream

While advancing on the pathway towards pursuing your dream, have you ever felt lost on? I believe we all share the same experience. Pursuing your dream is a path full of stumbling blocks. It might be your family, your peers or yourself. There could be misunderstanding and different expectations. Parents would like to guide us to a prescribed plan of our life out of their good will and their own life experience. Peer pressure will deter us to following our unique thought which is very different from theirs. We sometimes don’t dare to follow our heart. We often get trapped by these cages and couldn’t go forward. Not only would we feel depressed, but we would also feel helpless or couldn’t find anyone to talk to. Pursuing our dream is a difficult path, as we would face many obstacles, but please remember, if you don’t give up and keep going, you will eventually get to where you dream of.

You are not alone

If you ever feel lonely and cloaked in complete darkness, you are not alone, we all face the same problem along the pathway of pursuing our dream. Please don’t forget to seek help or find someone to share your feeling. Don’t be afraid be share their thoughts and doubts with your teachers or friends. They are always your mentors and companions. Hiding your emotion brings no good but harm to yourself. No matter what obstacles you’re facing, we would always be on your side. We are running towards our dream, painting the beautiful picture of our life together.
