

Imagine you were a bird with magical powers living in CNEC Christian College. You witness how students waste energy and resources on campus every day. Describe what you see, your feelings and actions.

Fly with disappointment

Every morning I see a lot of students playing basketball on the court and hear others chatting pleasantly in the corridor as I fly over CNEC Christian College. I am a miraculous bird with magical powers living on campus. It's a lovely school with wonderful people. However, a serious problem exists on campus. Students waste energy and resources on campus every day because they don't appreciate what they have.

Every day, the students have plenty of lessons, which all take place in various places across the school. They always leave the lights and air conditioning on when they leave the classroom. It's a waste of resources and electricity, plus the hot air from the air conditioner constantly makes my house on the tree hotter and hotter, "Before you leave the classroom, turn off the lights and the air conditioner," I whispered. The student giggled, "It's not a problem. We will be back shortly. There's no need to bother." Even when I use my magical powers to keep reminding them to turn off the lights and the air conditioner, they continue to do so.

Most students eat at the canteen at lunchtime. They always use disposable tableware. It's a massive waste of resources every single day. They never put cans and bottles into the recycle bins after they've finished their lunch. There are even some students who are worse. Litter is thrown on the lawn and not cleaned up. I can always smell the rotten smell from the trash in my house. This is abhorrent!

"How dare you leave the can on the lawn! Pick it up right now! I exclaimed. I really cannot stand their bad behavior any more. However, the students ignore me and leave it there. I am furious and heart broken. When I fly over the campus, all I see is trash and waste. A better place to live is waiting for me with someone who appreciates the environment as much as I do. I let out a sigh of relief. I take off and never return to the campus.
