Dear Miss Chow,

I am writing to enquire for more information about the cooking classes. I am interested in joining the class after reading your advertisement.

To start with, I wonder if you would mind telling me when the class will start. I want to schedule my timetable after the examination, so that I do not need to multitask. Apart from this, I would also like to know whether children with special needs like my brother, who has mental problems would be accepted, since I want my brother to be more outgoing.

Secondly, I would appreciate it if you could inform me whether vegetarians could also attend the class. I do not want to insult my God that I eat animals. Moreover, I would like to ask if teachers have good patience. I am not a really smart person and I need some time to understand the various steps of cooking. I do not want to be blamed by the teachers for my poor understanding. Furthermore, I would be grateful if you could tell me how much it costs for one lesson. Our family is low-income therefore we cannot afford an expensive course.

Finally, I would also want to know if the classes would be cancelled or postponed when there is a serious situation of the Covid-19. I am a person who extremely cares about hygiene, therefore I would not attend the lesson if the situation of Covid-19 is critical. In addition, I wonder if you could tell me whether the types of healthy food are various. It would be less interesting if the variety of food is narrow. I want to inspire my brother to be more positive through cooking creative cuisine. It would help a lot with his mental problem.

In conclusion, I would like to thank you for your time and kind attention. I look forward to receiving your reply.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Wong
