

Title: It's quiz time!

It was an unforgettable memory of my primary school life. Our teacher divided us into groups and organized a quiz game. When the teacher asked a question, we chose a representative in the group to write the answer on the blackboard. The group which got the most correct answers would win. Very simple and primitive did the game seem to be, it had brought lots of excitement and joy to us. The picture reminds me of how enjoyable my primary school life was. Thanks to our teacher's creativity and sense of humor, our supposedly boring lessons were very fascinating, and gave us the motivation to learn and study. Time flies, but the smile on everyone's face and the joyful atmosphere in the classroom remain vividly in my mind.

Title: Hand in Hand

This photo was taken on the last day of the 3-day F.1 Adventure Camp. The last activity was the 3 km run. Under the scorching sun, I was sweating and panting soon after the run began. After two days of physical activities, I was already exhausted, and my legs hurt terribly at the slightest movements. The runway seemed to never end. Just when I was about to give up, suddenly, my classmate stretched out her hand and said this to me, 'Come on! The end is in sight. We can do this together!' I took her hand, and we crossed the finishing line together. Our classmates ran towards us to congratulate on our accomplishment. In the end, my classmates and I put our hands together and shouted our slogan. Not only did I get to know my classmates better, but I also learnt the importance of supporting each other at our hardest times and the preciousness of enjoying the fruit of our hard work together.
