Dear Diary,

Oh Diary! You won't believe that I have found a friend who has the same hobbies as mine! I want to give her a big thank you as she has helped me a lot.

Diary, I have to introduce her to you. She wears glasses, has a fair complexion and she has freckles on her face. Diary, can you guess who she is? She is Saki! She has such a beautiful name, right?

First, I'm grateful for her support. Honestly, I sometimes feel sad because of some depressing things at school. However, Saki talks me through online and it seems it's not that bad! She's a supportive friend, Diary.

Saki also makes my time at school more fun. Do you also have a friend that has many hobbies that are the same as yours, Diary? Both Saki and I like anime, comics and games. Diary, I must tell you that Saki is a pro of it! She introduced different games to me and taught me how to play. At first, I thought she was shy but she isn't. I'm really glad that I can have Saki as my friend. Diary, do you agree?

I like the personality of Saki – being blunt and honest. She never tells lies and she always says the things she thinks without hiding the truth. I've learned a lot from her, I think you will agree too, Diary.

Will you make changes because of anybody, Diary? For me, I will. Saki has changed my personality and I am not shy anymore. I start to feel more relaxed at school!

'Have you watched this anime before?' was the question Saki asked me the first time and I will never forget it. Diary, a sentence is the start of a friendship.

Love,

Katie
