

Imagine you were a bird with magical powers living in CNEC Christian College. You witness how students waste energy and resources on campus every day. Describe what you see, your feelings and actions.

Stop Wasting!

I am a bird but I can change myself into a human. Recently, I witnessed students in CNEC Christian College waste a lot of energy and resources on campus every day. And now, I got invited by the principal to stop the students' wasteful behavior.

On the first day, I changed myself into a human and saw the students waste water in the toilet as they used it for playing. The floor is wet and even made a girl fall down and get injured. How selfish this behavior is! I immediately took the girls to the sick room and changed back to bird form. For the one who always wasted water in the toilet, I took their water bottles and made them chase after me. Until we went to a corner, I put down their bottles and said, 'If you waste water again, you will get revenge!' They screamed and showed their fear on their faces as they were confused about how the bird could talk to them. They took back their bottles and ran away quickly.

On the second day, something smelled disgusting came through the corridor. When I went into the classroom, two boys were mixing two drinks together! Other classmates asked what they were doing and the two boys said that they were curious about the smell of two drinks mixed together. I was so angry that they wasted the drinks. And then there was a student who had a taste of it. Because of the awful taste, he wanted to vomit after drinking and threw the mixture into the rubbish bin, such a wasteful action. Later on, I changed to human form and one student saw me! He was shocked and when he tried to say something to me, I fled. After running away, I reported the behavior of the two boys to the teacher. They got punished for it as they had done it for a long time.

Also, when I flew into an empty classroom, I touched a cold surface. It's summer now, isn't this a bit weird? So I checked the classroom and found out that the students forgot to close the air-conditioners. Of course it's my responsibility to stop it so I closed it and I wrote a letter to the teacher to tell them to use the fan instead of the air-conditioner. I was going to fly away and go back to the place I used to sleep. However, the students blocked the road that I was going to use. Luckily, the teacher helped me to escape.

After these days, I found out that the students started to stop wasting energy and resources. I had a doubt about why they suddenly stopped. And one day, a student was talking about a rumor that if you waste things in CNEC Christian College, you will get revenge by a bird which can change itself into a human. I was surprised that I was the main character of the story but it seems that it's not bad at all. Although I am the person who stopped the wasteful behavior, I was used to wasting things like the students. But after this, I have learnt that I should save energy and resources. Now, we have a great, wonderful and beautiful campus because of saving materials and I was glad with this!
