1.1 ACADEMIC LIFE

Write about one subject that you enjoyed studying or found challenging.

One subject that I found challenging is Chemistry, which is really a thought-provoking subject. Despite having paid lots of efforts, I failed to ace any exam. Feeling disappointed, I descended into the bewitchment of mobile phone. It made me not able to stay focused throughout the revision period. I realized the problems, so I started to solve the problem that ensued. I spared no effort to do the revision.

After my hard work, the exam results were still well below my expectations. I still failed in exams. I was disgruntled at that time. Having been disturbed by mood swings, for I had already resolved to pay effort, but in vain. I was in emotional distress at that time. I could not pull myself together to do anything. I had the aversion to do the revision. I slacked off at that time. But suddenly one day a question pops into my mind, 'Do you feel satisfied with, and can you accept your result now?' I found that my answer is negative. It reignited my enthusiasm to learn more and do revision.

While doing revision, I found that I could not succeed unless I specified my goals. The goal should not be too elusive and realistic achievable. It took me a step in the right direction towards success. It let me be more persistent and braver to face challenges. Revision is not more an uphill battle for me as before. After my efforts, I finally see my improvement in the subject. For me, it is a tremendous achievement for me as I resolved against obstacles.

1.2 STUDENT LIFE

Write about what you will miss most about being a student in class 6C.

No sooner did we be the student in class 6C than we could miss one another. It is indisputable that invaluable friendship is what I treasured most in class 6C. Before being a student in 6C, I was a socially withdrawn youth. I do not have many friends at schools. However, classmates in 6C are kind. Although my speech sometimes was unintelligible and they were bemused by me, they were still willing to talk with me, even chattering. It encouraged me to communicate with others and be willing to be proactive when having collaboration.

I am a careless person. Sometimes the mistakes I have made did cause a setback to our project and other issues. Despite having faced a severe blow, my classmates did not choose to put blame on me. They encouraged me to resolve the problem. With that, I am determined to be a better person. Since then, classmates' expectations are vital to me. I become a responsible person being willing to serve others and be vigilant for whatever I did. Thanks to my classmates, I have made a remarkable change on my attitudes and am going to be a more considerable individual.
